Foreword

As we look back on yesterday's dreams and face today's reality, we see that our future hopes will be either graduate school, marriage, or a professional career.

In the following pages you will see our lives at Winston-Salem State University through pictures and words that we sincerely hope will convey our various patterns of daily activity in the past, present and hopefully what we will be doing in the future.

We hope that all who read this book will understand, share and appreciate the many emotions and experiences we felt in putting this book together.

History

The Winston-Salem State University was founded as the Slater Industrial Academy on September 28, 1892. It began in a one-room structure with twenty-five (25) pupils and one teacher.

In 1962 the North Carolina General Assembly authorized the changing of the name from Winston Salem Teacher College to Winston-Salem State College. A statute designating Winston-Salem State University received legislative approval in 1969.

Today, the family of Winston-Salem State University is over 1,800 students strong and rapidly increasing. The University is composed of a plant of 62 acres, valued at approximately eight (8) million dollars.

Alma Mater

As we go forth from old State U.
A song of praise we sing to you,
And praises to the memory
Of days at State University.

Thy sons and daughters bring thee fame
Through knowledge which we here have gained
Exultingly we raise thy name,
O Winston-Salem State University.

As we go forth from old State U.
Good leaders we will always be.
And stand for Christianity,
As you've taught us, State University.

In all we do we shall proclaim
To all the world thy teaching fame,
As we go forth we praise thy name.
O Winston-Salem State University.

Dedication

Mrs. Manderline Scales

The members of the Senior Class did not hesitate in choosing the person to whom they wished to dedicate this book. In every school there is probably some very unique person. We, the Senior Class, wish to recognize Mrs. Manderline Scales "Our Little Lady" as that unique person at Winston-Salem State University. For the past four years, Mrs. Scales has led our victories and shared our defeats.

Mrs. Scales, we the members of the Senior Class, remember you yesterday and we shall not forget you today nor tomorrow.

Class of 1972

This 1972 edition of the yearbook illustrates the sincere spirit of cooperation which prevails at Winston-Salem State University. Members of the faculty, the staff and student body have cooperated in this project as in all others and demonstrated the true spirit of comradeship one would expect to find in a closely knit family.

I commend the Editor, the Staff, the Faculty Advisor, Publisher and all others who have contributed to this publication.

The theme—"Dreams Yesterday—realities today and widening horizons for tomorrow", emphasizes important features for a class, a university, a people. Yes, big dreams can become realities and horizons can be broadened. We trust that you are able to say that you are convinced of this as a result of your days at Winston-Salem State University.

PRESIDENT

In Appreciation

With grateful appreciation, we would like to acknowledge Mr. Thomas L. Brown for the service he has rendered us during the past four years. In rain, sleet, and snow Mr. Brown gets the mail through.

Mr. Brown, we thank you.

THE 1972 RAM

I say to you today, my friends, that in spite of the difficulties and frustrations of the moment I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream.

I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal."

I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slaveowners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a desert state sweltering with the heat of injustice and oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice.

I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

I have a dream today.

I have a dream that one day the state of Alabama, whose governor's lips are presently dripping with words of interposition and nullification, will be transformed into a situation where little black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and white girls and walk together as sisters and brothers.

I have a dream today.

I have a dream that one day every valley shall be exalted, every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made plains, and the crooked places will be made straight, and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together.

PRESIDENT: Terry Howard

The level of consciousness among students at Winston-Salem State University has risen markedly during my three years as a student at this institution. From 1968 to 1971, we as students concentrated our efforts toward making changes in our curriculum and on our campus to make this a better place for learning. The next year saw us shifting to a broader scope, concentrating on problems which immediately surrounded us. Some of us began moving out into the community and working toward alleviating some basic problems facing our people. We volunteered our services to tutorial programs and other community based projects.

This past year has been significant in that it marks the beginning of our moving out and involving ourselves in state and nationwide issues. Our mobilizing and moving to Raleigh in masse proved not only to people throughout the state, but to ourselves that we can get together and move constructively in matters that threaten our existence. My being instrumental in this movement, the largest in the history of Winston-Salem State University will indeed be always considered as one of the most meaningful experiences in my life.

Therefore I accredit this year's success to you as Black students and leaders of tomorrow. For without your efforts, concern, and contributions this school year would have been impossible. My advice to you is to continue to grow with WSSU, love it, and above all, make a valuable contribution to it, for it is our home now and will be the home of many Black people many years to come.

The perfect woman is as beautiful as she is strong, as tender as she is sensible. She is calm, deliberate, dignified, leisurely. She is gay, graceful, sprightly, sympathetic. . . . She has fancies, dreams, romances, ideas. She organizes neatness, and order, and comfort, . . . the joy of the whole earth.

1973 class officers

As Freshmen, under the leadership of Harry Leak, the class got the thing going and became one of the most powerful classes at Winston-Salem State University. The advisor selected was Armistead Williams. The members of the class were participants in practically every organization and activity offered on the campus. At once, they drew together a very successful talent show.

On the academic side, Rosalyn Rivers was awarded the highest cumulative scholastic average in the freshman class. Also representing the freshmen with honors were Brenda Taylor, who had the highest scholastic average in the Art Department, Charles Talley who had one of the highest averages in the Dramatics Department, Melvin Brown and Marilyn Roseboro, who had the highest average in the Social Science Department and Rosalyn Rivers who received the Chemical Rubber Company award in chemistry. Ross King received an award for the Winston-Salem Journal & Sentinel Scholarship.

Two students from the Freshman class were selected to represent the school in the Institute of Dramatic Arts, which was held at Winston-Salem State during the summer. They were John Martin and Charles Talley.

As big time sophomores, under the administration of Joseph Johnson, the class of '73 continued to do their thing. Roland S. Watts filled the shoes of Mr. Williams as advisor. In basketball, Ralph Jones, Edward Gregg, Roger Wells, Arthur Chavious and Bobby Garner became well known figures. Linwood Skinner did his part in Tennis.

Scholastically, Rosalyn Rivers was once again awarded the highest cumulative scholastic average. Sixteen students were recognized for having a cumulative average of 3.0 or better average: Donnell Atkins, Walter Armstrong, Allan Coles, Gilbert Cooley, Joseph Johnson, John Martin, Delynn Williams, Kennon Woods, Cecelia Byers, Roslyn Rivers, Marilyn Roseboro, Brenda Taylor, Wanda Vincent, Winona Williams and Sylvia Wrice.

Moving into their junior year, the class of '73 under the leadership of John Martin moved forward. Many of the class were selected for "Who's Who for American Colleges and Universities". Marilyn Roseboro and John Martin received awards for having the highest averages in the class. Lydia Moore's play was produced in New York City. Wanda Vincent was elected the queen for the class at homecoming. Donna Ingram was elected "Miss Homecoming" Ralph Jones, Arthur Chavious, Roger Wells and Garner continued in basketball. Bobby Garner gained fame for pass receiving award. Linwood Skinner excelled in tennis. Leaders of the school paper were: Marilyn Roseboro, Joseph Johnson, John Martin, Rosilyn Rivers, Melvin Brown and Shelia Bailey. John Martin was elected public relations man for the third year in sports. Yes, the class of '73 is on the move.

A scene from the class of '72 freshman talent and fashion show held in the auditorium.

Yesterday's freshmen and today's seniors began to "do the do" in 1968 on campus. The leaders elected were Stan Turman as president and Terry Warner Howard as the vice-president. Mrs. Manderline Scales was appointed as advisor and she served in this position for four years. The homecoming activities brought a first place prize to the class for having the best float. Thanksgiving was ceremonies of giving and sharing in "Feed the Poor." The class was awarded first place by the student government organization because of its great variety and large amount of food. Christmas was a great effort of the group because a team of the students sang carols, told stories in the men's and children's wards at K.B. Reynolds Hospital. They presented bags of fruits, nuts and candies to the patients. The talent and fashion show headed by Billie Richardson, Lawanda Peace and Debbie Woods spotlighted the year's activities. Many of the students made outstanding contributions as individuals in every area of the campus activities. Delores Brooks was cited scholastically. Dora Thompson was elected as "Miss Freshman Class Queen". Terry Howard and Billie Richardson won the Journal & Sentinel Award .. Sports, cheerleaders, writers, and community leaders were developed during this year which opened the college careers of these energetic and enthusiastic young people.

The next year brought more successes to the group and to the individuals. The class won first place for its float during the homecoming activities again. The class received the first place placard in the annual "Feed the Poor" campaign as sponsored by the student government organization for its variety and amount. Christmas carols, nuts, fruits and candies were shared with patients at two local nursing homes. Debbie Woods was declared "Woman of the Year" for the campus. These activities were led by the officers of the year. Stanley Turman was the president for the second year. Freddie Poe was the vice president. Gloria Johnson was elected the class secretary. Debbie Woods served as the class treasurer. Honors went to many members of the class for scholastic achievement, special activities, sports and special talents. I dare not mention names'. Miss Sophomore Class Queen was Jennifer Durham.

More of yesterday's dreams became today's realities and provided for many visions unlimited throughout the years which follow. The junior year continued in a similar manner. Dreams became realities in scholastic, cultural and sport activities. Miss Junior Class Queen was Sandra McDonald. Miss Homecoming for the campus was Shirley Robinson. Several members toured with the choir and others traveled with the band. The record which was made by the university music department included several members of the class. Carolyn Coleman was elected "The Woman of the Year" for the campus. "Who's Who" included Frances Hicks, Deloris Brooks, Nathalie Kimbrough, Ozella Pruitt, Carolyn Coleman, Florence Hampton, Debbie Woods, Warner Howard, Emma Dockery, Joyce Atkinson, Beatrice Atkinson, Jennifer Durham, Bertha Clark, Edna Brown, Marie Harrington, Caretha Franks, Sandra McDonald, Floretta Liverpool, Dora Thompson and Betty Jones. Michael Green, Carolyn Coleman, Carolyn McCall, Betty Jones. Mildred Strickland and Sandra Hooper were cited for scholastic achievement in their history honor society, and a list of the class was cited for a 3.0 cumulative average.

Cheerleaders included Marilyn Reid, Deloris Edwards, Clevell Roseboro, Delores Green and Shirley Robinson. This is a class of visions unlimited!

A Teacher Orientation Session

A special faculty orientation session is held for all new faculty members who begin services in the fall term of a school year. Persons who are employed, later, during the academic year, are given orientation when they arrive at the institution. In either case, the new member is briefed on general university rules and regulations, objectives and philosophy of the university, and institutional services-library, bookstore, etc.

The Functions of A University

by Theodore Roosevelt

"A great university has two special functions: The first is to produce a small number of scholars of the highest rank, a small number of men who, in science and literature, or in art, will do productive work of the first class. The second is to send out into the world a very large number of men who could never achieve and who ought not try to achieve such a position in the field of scholarship, but whose energies are to be felt in every other form of activity; and who should go out from our doors with the balanced development of body, of mind, and above all, of character which shall fit them to do work honorable and efficient."

1971 RAMS 1972 DREAMS . . REALITIES . . VISIONS UNLIMITED IN SPORTS

Sport is more than playing the game- Sport is the hours of practice, the discipline, the sore muscles, and the hours of preparation or maybe only the one minute race. Sport is giving your full support, your full effort, your total self-the pride that comes with winning, and for some reason still enjoying the game if you lose. Sport is the strength of the gymnast, the endurance of a runner, the speed of a swimmer, the timing of a pole-vaulter, the power of a tackle, the cleverness of a coach, the teamwork of a crew, the skill of an athlete- the builder of men...

Building Men by Robert W. Murphy

How do you train him?
There he stands before you,
Clean and lanky,
With a look of bright morning on his face.
Appealing
In the way that morning is,
And youth is,
And the hopefulness of youth.
And then you realize
The awful responsibility
That is yours
To train.
To train and build,
And nurture and lead.
You realize how much of business is training,
How much of industry is building men,
Inspiring men,
And leading them to achievement.
Well, here is good timber
But what are you going to build of it?
And how do you go about the building process?
This is the answer:
You give him of yourself.
Urge him learn of his craft of course,
And learn it well,
Whatever it is- law, accounting, engineering.

Tell him he must labor hard, to learn it well.
That, of course,
Goad him to dip into classic tomes
And newer letters
To touch base often
In academic halls
And move about in tasks foreign and unfamiliar.
But this young man needs more.
Judgment he needs,
And understanding,
And maturity.
For these, he looks to you
And you must give them to him.
Let yourself rub off on him,
Let him sit beside you as you work,
To work with you,
To study with you, be perplexed with you,
To analyze with you,
And to dream with you.
Give him the impossible task to do,
The unanswerable question to answer.
There is no better way to train - to build men.

Cleo Wallace, who led Winston-Salem State to its first football title, has been named the coach-of-the-year in the CIAA.

Announcement of Wallace's selection was made by William M. Bennett of Virginia State, chairman of the selection committee.

Winston-Salem, with a predominantly freshman team, won the Southern division title in the CIAA with a 6-2 conference record. The Rams lost to Elizabeth City 33-22 in the CIAA championship contest. Winston-Salem had beaten Elizabeth City with the score 13-12 in a regular-season game.

Wallace, and his assistants, Baxter Holman and Lu Wims, brought the Rams to a championship even though not one member of the Winston-Salem team was picked on the all CIAA team.

Wallace, is a graduate of Winston-Salem State, playing football and basketball in college. A graduate of Essex County High School in New Jersey, Wallace had never played football when he came to Winston-Salem. He came on a basketball scholarship recruited by Coach C. E. (Bighouse) Gaines. He played guard on the football team. He played football in the army at Bolling Field and his team won the national service championship. He played pro football with the Cleveland Browns.

Wallace coached high school football, winning championships at Mount Airy Jones and Winston-Salem Anderson.

Livingstone Bows

WSS Wins by 17

Special To The Journal

SALISBURY — Winston-Salem State won its fifth game in six starts last night when it raced away from Livingstone in the second half and captured a 95-78 CIAA victory.

Winston-Salem State is now 3-1 in the Southern Division of the CIAA and Livingstone is 0-3.

The Rams were led by Roger Wells who popped in 18 points. Harold (Funny) Kitt, Arthur Chavious and Ralph Jones each collected 15 while Earl Williams added 12.

The Rams took the lead in the early stages but did not shake loose from the Bears until the second half.

The Bears rallied and tied the score at 26-26 with five minutes left in the first half. That was the last time the score was tied. The Rams went on a scoring spree to push the count to 39-30 with 2:45 left in the first half.

Two field goals by William Ferguson helped cut the Rams' lead to 40-38 at halftime.

Jerry Hamilton kept Livingstone in the running in the first half when he posted 15 points. The Rams tightened up their defense and limited Hamilton to two points in the second half. Ferguson led Livingstone with 27 points while James Bullock got 23.

Kitt paced the Rams in scoring in the first half and was the only member of the State team in double figures with 14.

The Rams broke away fast in the second half taking a 62-49 lead in the first five minutes.

With Chavious and Wells pouring in points, State led 69-57 at the 10-minute mark and never let up.

The Rams led by 10 or more points until they spurted in the closing minutes into their 15-point final margin.

Wells was deadly from the corners as Chavious and Kitt hit from the outside. Williams and Garner gave Winston-Salem control of the boards in the second half.

Coach C. E. (Bighouse) Gaines said the Rams had "a good team effort" once they got started. "We had a slow start. Perhaps we were looking forward to the game against Norfolk State (to be played here tonight)," said Gaines.

WSS, Norfolk Here Tonight

By Mary Garber

Staff Reporter

Winston-Salem State could establish itself as the number one team in the CIAA with a victory tonight. The Rams meet Norfolk State at Memorial Coliseum at 8 p.m.

The Norfolk State Spartans have a lock on number one in the CIAA. Last season, the Spartans were Northern Division champions with an unbeaten record and won the CIAA tournament.

In the 1971-72 season, Norfolk State was the pre-season favorite and in the first few weeks of the season has shown those predictions to be very accurate. The Spartans are undefeated in CIAA play. Their only loss was a 93-89 defeat to North Carolina A&T State, a game that Coach Robert L. Smith of Norfolk thinks his team should have won.

It would seem that a team with a 4-0 record in the CIAA and a 5-1 overall mark would be playing pretty good basketball, but Smith is far from satisfied.

"We just happen to be winning right now," Smith said yesterday. "We haven't looked that good. We are still ragged. Maybe we are still trying to prove that we are champions and there is too much pressure on us. All I know is that we are making turnovers that we cause ourselves."

Smith thinks that one reason for the large number of turnovers by teams in the CIAA is that everyone is trying to play fast break basketball.

"It is hard to convince players that you can't play fast break basketball if you don't have the ball," said Smith.

Some teams, he says, are moving so rapidly that they are not taking time to get the rebound and have control of the ball.

Norfolk is a solid team, one that does almost everything well. The Spartans run and shoot with skill. And they play solid defense. They have good height up front. They have experience and talent.

Norfolk has two all-CIAA players back from last year. One is Leroy Jones, a 6-7 forward, who made the team last season as a freshman. Another is Rudy Peele, a 6-2 junior, who has been averaging 31 points a game.

"Peele isn't tall," said Smith, "but he is a good rebounder. In fact, he does everything well. He is a steady player."

Randolph Lassiter, a 6-5 junior, is the other frontcourt man. The backcourt men are 6-0 Roosevelt Mitchell and 5-10 Ronald Wilson.

Jo-Jo Bethea, a fine freshman player, is the sixth man.

"We have been having problems with our free throws," said Smith. "I don't understand why. We work on it all the time."

"We like to run. We try for the fast break if it is there. If not, we can play pattern basketball. We play a pressure defense."

Winston-Salem State is a similar type of team. The Rams like to run and shoot. And they play a pressure defense.

Coach C. E. (Bighouse) Gaines probably will start Ralph Jones, Earl Williams and Bobby Garner up front. With that lineup, Winston-Salem can match Norfolk State in size quite well.

Harold (Funny) Kitt and Arthur Chavious will be in the backcourt for Winston-Salem.

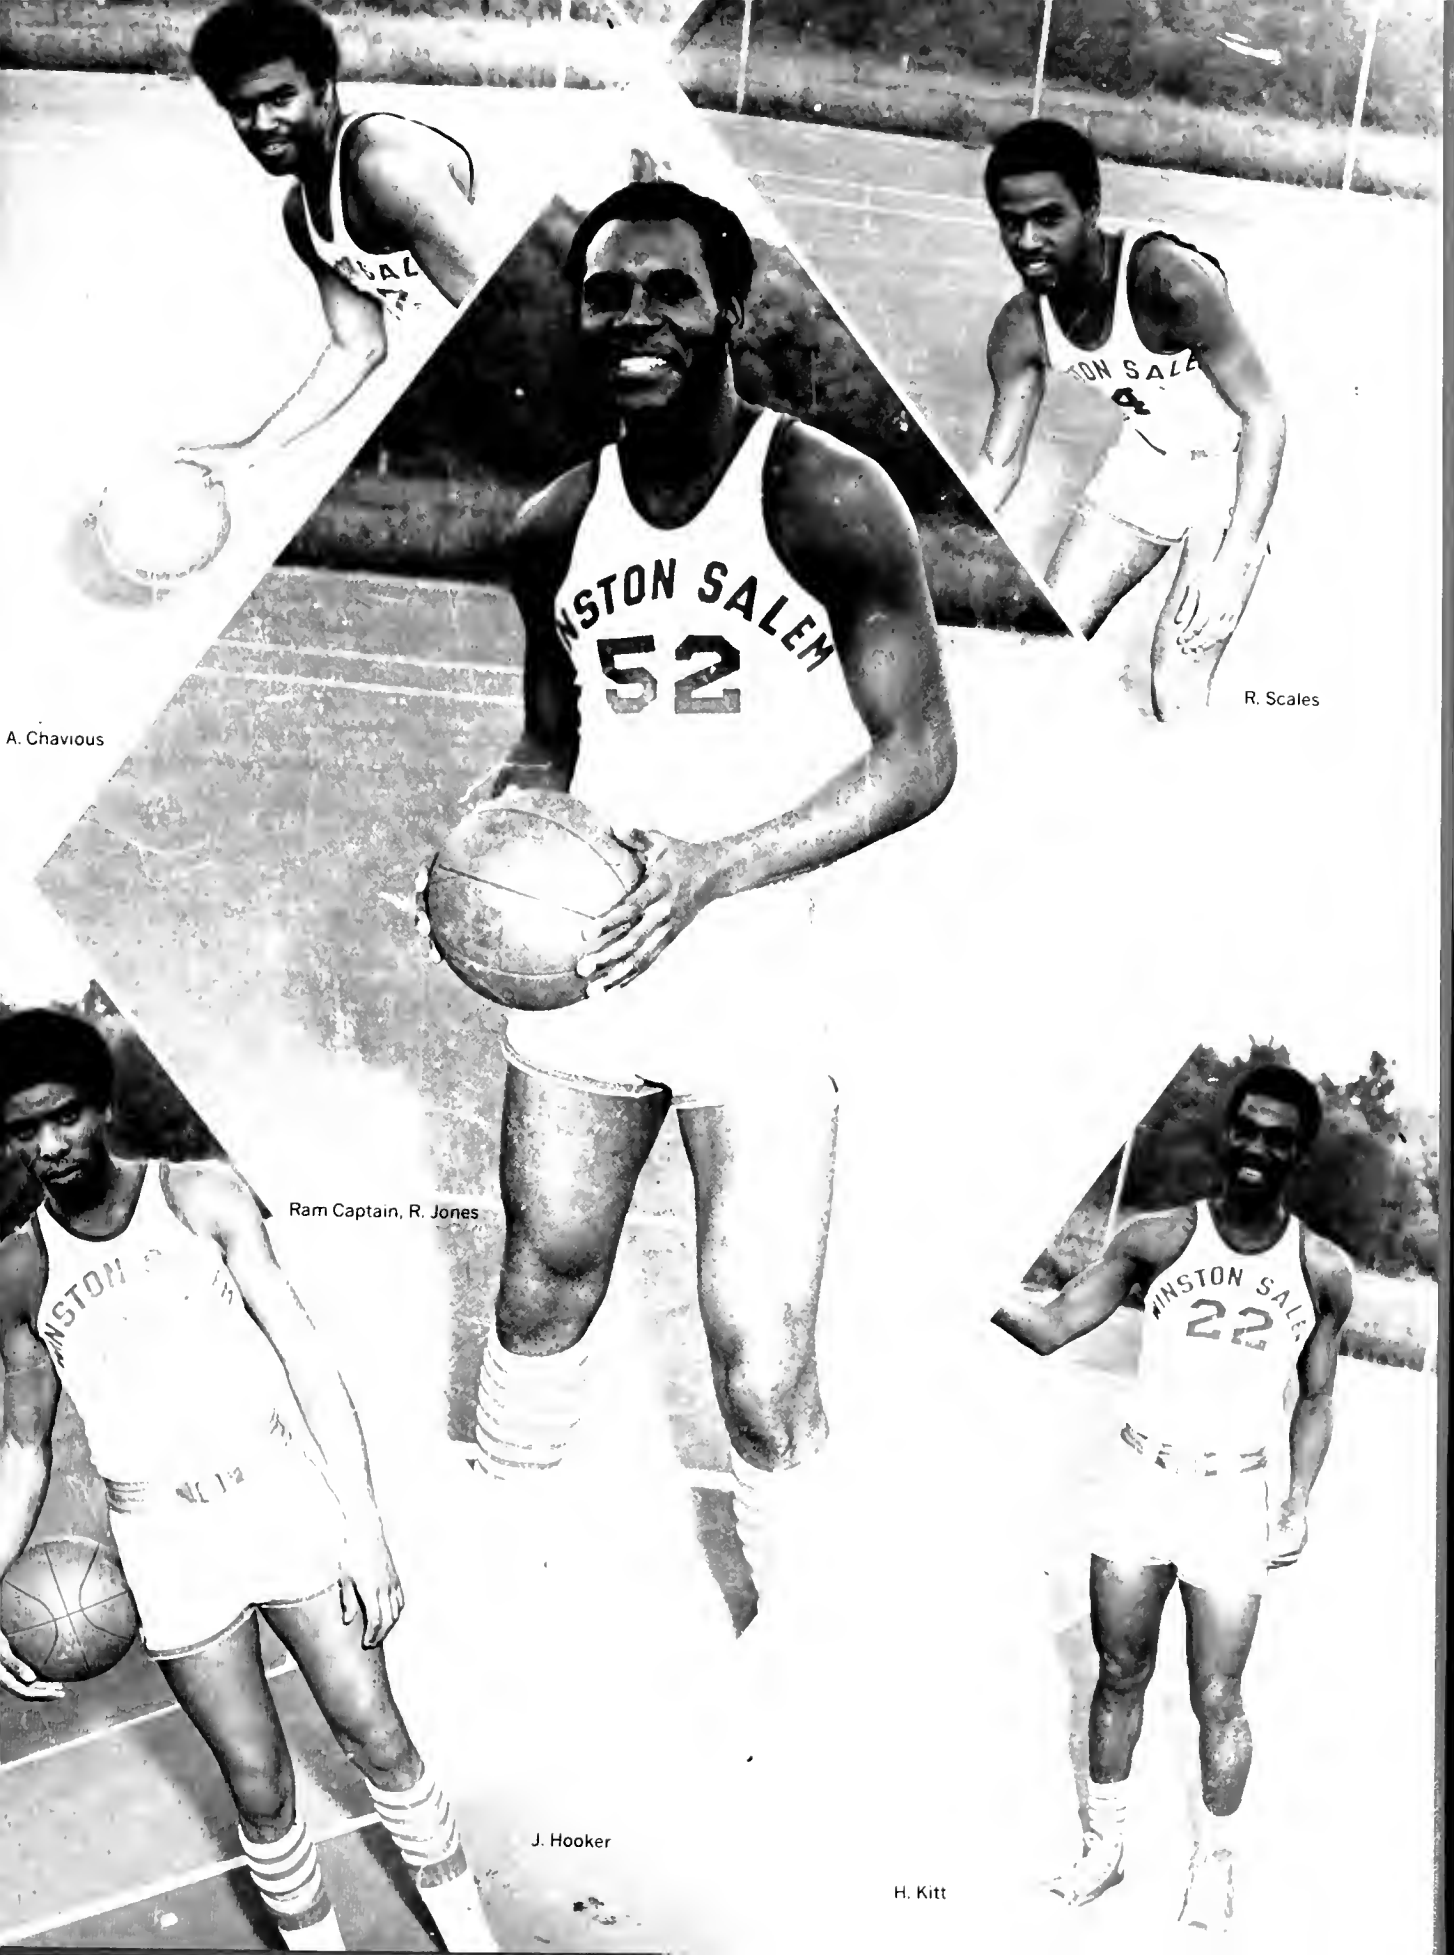

The Rams will be playing at home after five games on the road.

How much does a reputation as an outstanding basketball player mean?

Funny Kitt of Winston-Salem State has one dating back six years to New York City when he was on the playgrounds with Dean Meminger, Charlie Yelverton and Charlie Davis.

Norfolk State's Leroy Jones is also held in high regard, having been named to the All-CIAA team last season. That was before he met Earl Williams.

Kitt reaffirmed his credentials with 34 points and Williams gained new respect with 25 rebounds last night, directing Winston-Salem State to a 110-96 victory over the Spartans at Memorial Coliseum.

Williams, a massive 6-7 sophomore, was the dominant factor, getting only five less rebounds than the entire Norfolk State team and scoring 17 points. Jones, also 6-7, provided just seven rebounds and seven points and offered the Spartans little opportunity for second and third shots.

Rudy Peele, Norfolk State's second CIAA all-star at guard, was another victim of the Rams' match-up zone defense and scored 10 of his 26 points in the last six minutes, long after the eventual winner had all but been determined.

Peele was the best player by that name on the court, while Jones was intimidated by both Williams and 6-4 Ralph Jones as Winston-Salem State out-rebounded the Spartans by an amazing 60-30 margin. The Rams' Jones collected 10 rebounds and 24 points.

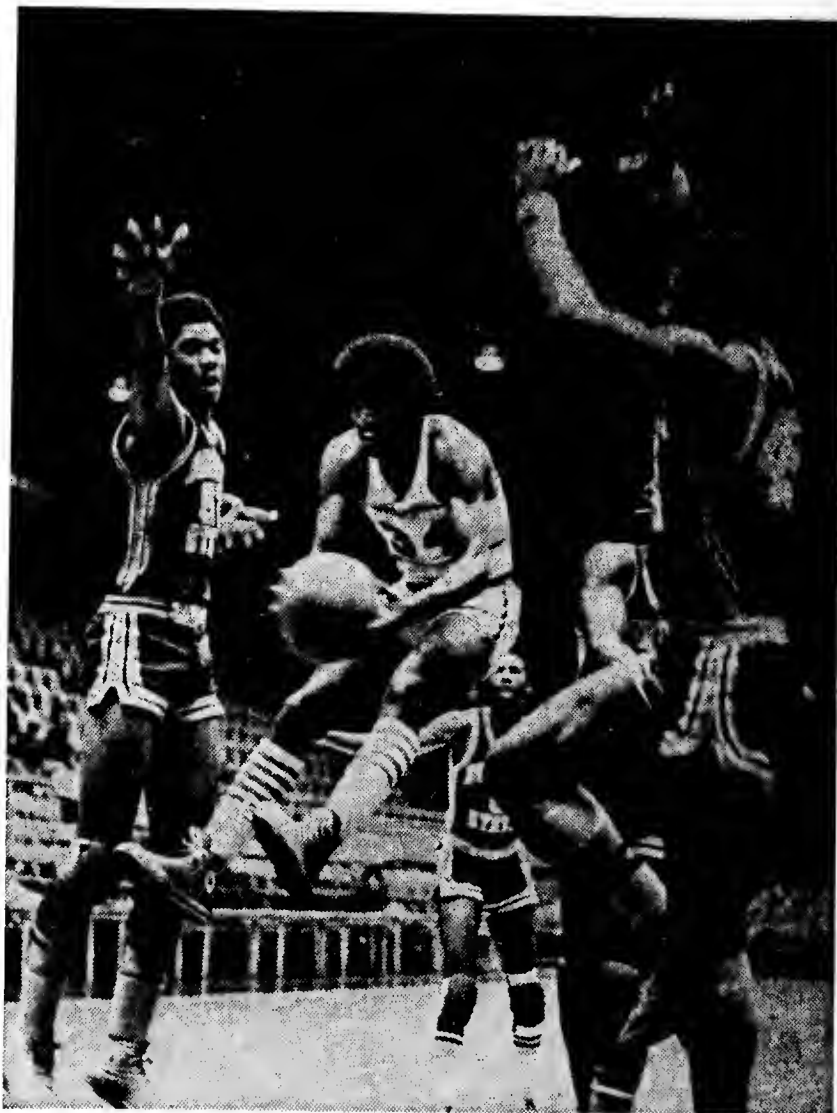

"Leroy looked like a little kid out there against them," said Coach Robert Smith of Norfolk. "He never would go to the boards like they were doing."

"Sure, Earl did a good job," said Winston-Salem State's C. E. (Big House) Gaines, "but he's been doing that all year."

The victory was the Rams' fifth in six games and gives WSSU second place in the CIAA's Southern Division with a 4-1 record. Norfolk is now 5-2 and 4-1 in the Northern Division.

At 41, This Senior Gets Wish, Teaches

By Georgia Melville
Staff Reporter

If there's a special gleam in a Winston-Salem State University senior's eyes as he talks about educating youngsters, it's quite natural.

Norman Dunlap, 41, is realizing a dream. Tuesday he began his eight weeks as a student teacher at Prince Ibrahim International School.

"I've always wanted to be a teacher," said Dunlap. The idea "has been back there for years," but until 1968 he never had the opportunity to attend college.

Since he graduated from Atkins High School in 1949, Dunlap has operated a painting company, waited on tables at the Hotel Robert F. Lee and worked as a cook.

Then in 1966 he joined the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. where he now works in quality control.

"I've never had a job I disliked," said Dunlap. "If I were 60 years old and I wanted to change jobs, I would."

For years Dunlap wanted to return to school, but circumstance always interfered. In 1957 he tried to get into A&T University at Greensboro, years later he took college entrance examinations.

In 1968, Dunlap was finally able to begin classes at Winston-Salem State. He entered with the idea of teaching students in the middle grades in a ghetto neighborhood.

School was tough at first. Dunlap, who has continued his full-time job, said he almost quit the first semester.

The younger students were helpful, he said. Some were classmates of his son, now 22, whom Dunlap tried unsuccessfully to get to start college with him.

Dunlap said he does not believe "in failing a child. Any student can succeed if he is allowed to succeed in what he wants to do."

Dunlap already has started working with individual students and has helped with physical education. Using the next three weeks, he gradually will pick up a full teaching load and will teach all subjects for four weeks.

Miss Mary Ruth Henderson, Dunlap's supervising teacher at the school, said Dunlap has good rapport with the students.

She said Dunlap, in his quiet, authoritative voice, told a little girl she was not listening to his explanation. The girl, when confronted, said she would start listening right away.

Dunlap said, "I think it (rapport) really comes from having kids around me all the time." His nephews call him 'Uncle Socrates,' he said.

So far Dunlap has not made any definite plans. But when he does apply for a teaching position, Dunlap said he does not expect his age to be a barrier. He said he thinks maturity and stability will work in his favor.
